RYARSH AWARD FOR EXCELLENCE

Dexter

Dolphin Class

The time has come for the second Excellence Award of the year – myself, Mrs Wildish and Mrs Tait all had one, very deserving name in mind and if we had asked the children in class, they would all have said Dexter's name too.

Dexter has settled into Dolphin Class amazingly well. As soon as he comes through the doors in the morning, he is ready for a day full of learning, creating, playing... and making his teachers laugh!

Dexter loves learning and inspires his friends daily, be it with his amazing writing, his reading, his marvellous mental maths or creating fun games for everyone to enjoy, especially if it involves making cheeky words with our wooden letters which leads to much hilarity amongst the children (and adults!).

He has always had a natural flair for writing and is already writing with no adult support, but what he has done is grow in confidence and want to share this with others – just this week he brought a story into class that he had written and delighted in reading it to the whole class, who promptly stared in amazement and then gave him a huge round of applause!

It is safe to say that Dexter just loves to learn and his enthusiasm for everything we do is infectious. If there is a challenge, Dexter is there! In fact, he keeps the adults in the class on their toes as we constantly try to find things to challenge him!

Not only has Dexter shown that he is an amazing learner, he is also a fantastic friend. This has recently been shown as he was chosen by many of the children (in their home learning) as the child who was a great friend. The reasons included him being really kind and always making sure his friends are okay, he is funny and makes his friends laugh, he is super smart and has great spiky hair!

Dexter has made a great start to life in Dolphin Class and is the most wonderful addition to the class (even if he does find it funny to draw an owl and put it on Mrs Howman's shoulder, yuck!) and we hope that he continues to grow in confidence and realise how truly fantastic he is!

Dexter, you've been a superstar and we cannot wait to see what you amaze us all with in the New Year.

Signed - Mrs Howman
